Tutor.com Success Story: The Baqui Family

- Challenge: Maliha Baqui is homeschooling her children while her husband is at work and is concerned about their writing skills.
- Results: Sabeeha, 12 years old and Khadeeja, 10 years old worked with Tutor.com tutors for several months to improve their essays and their mom has seen a big improvement in their language skills.
- Favorite Feature: Both the safety of the service and how talented the tutors are with deep subject knowledge impressed the Baqui Family.

“Tutor.com has been a big help to my family,” said Maliha Tamkeen. “We are so happy that my husband’s company offers it as a benefit.” Maliha’s two children, Sabeeha, age 12, and Khadeeja, who is 10, both use the online tutoring site for homework help, primarily for language skills and for science help. The tutors are very talented and have good command of their subjects. They also understand child psychology well.”

“Tutor.com has helped improve my children’s writing skills a lot,” stated her husband, Abdul Baqui. “We home school our children and this has been a great resource. The kids work with the Tutor.com tutors to review and improve their essays. About four months ago, we were concerned about our children’s language skills, but they have been using Tutor.com and we see a big improvement. They are getting A+s from their teachers on the work they turn in.

The kids are excited to submit their essays on Tutor.com. They like to be accountable and to be appreciated for their work. And it is helpful to me in helping me manage their school day, since the two children are at different levels.”

Abdul Baqui learned about this corporate benefit from his company’s internal website. “Tutor.com is an awesome service. It is very beneficial to my family and I was looking for something like this to help my wife and children with their homeschooling. My company is a great place to work. They support education in a variety of ways.”

Another benefit of Tutor.com for Maliha is the site’s privacy rules. “As a parent, I always feel confident that the tutors always discuss subject-related issues only. This assures me of safety for my kids.”
