

New Ownership. Same Commitment.

A Message from our CEO

September 12, 2025

A new chapter for Tutor.com and The Princeton Review®

To our partners, educators, families, and learners,

Today, I'm proud to share that Tutor.com and The Princeton Review are now 100% U.S.-owned and operated, a milestone in our ongoing commitment to serve learners with integrity, privacy, and trust.

For nearly three decades, we've helped students build skills and confidence. With this ownership transition, our mission shines even brighter: to be the trusted partner that every learner, family, school, library, college, and institution can count on.

What this means for you:

- Ownership and Governance: Tutor.com and The Princeton Review are now 100% U.S.-owned, operated, and governed.
- Security and Privacy: Student and institutional data continues to be hosted in the United States. We are and have always been committed to privacy, security, and compliance.
- Continuity You Can Count On: Your services, support channels, contracts, and account teams remain unchanged. Our leadership team continues in place, with the addition of Dr. John Lash as Vice President, Security, bringing added depth at the intersection of national security and education.
- Forward Vision: We are investing in innovation and service quality by expanding our offerings and continuing to improve outcomes for learners nationwide.

Thank you for your trust and partnership.

With appreciation,

Bob Batten

Chief Executive Officer, Tutor.com and The Princeton Review
